Here's what you need to know about the Covid-19 vaccine

- The Covid-19 vaccine is safe and effective. It gives you the best protection against coronavirus.
- The vaccines have been thoroughly tested and approved by medical experts.
- Millions of people have been given a Covid-19 vaccine and serious side effects, such as allergic reactions, have been very rare.
- You will be invited to book an appointment or you can attend a walk-in clinic to have your vaccine.
- The vaccine is given as 2 doses. You will have the second dose 3 to 12 weeks after having the first dose.
- The first dose of the vaccine should give you good protection from coronavirus, but you need to have the second dose to give you full protection which is longer lasting.

- There is a small chance you might still get or spread coronavirus even if you have had the vaccine. You should continue to follow the social distancing guidance until told otherwise by the government.
- The Covid-19 vaccine does not contain any animal products or egg.
- There is no evidence that the vaccine affects fertility. The vaccine has been approved for use in pregnancy.
- The NHS will never ask you for bank or financial information or ask you to prove your identity as part of the NHS free Covid-19 vaccination programme.
